

There are, of course, scholarly books available concerning the Negev bedouin Arabic dialect, and its very unique history and qualities. This is not one of them. The goal here is to use transliterations and translations that make the work as readable as possible, yet also preserve the “flavor” of the region, and of its peoples. I hope I have succeeded in this effort.